

04 Creating Database with Entity Framework Core - Part 2

MovieGenre Table and Many-to-Many relationship

Now that we have created some of our tables, lets try to establish relation between those entities. If you look at our ER diagram we have Many-to-many relationship between Movie and Genre entities i.e one movie can belong to multiple Genres and one Genre can have multiple Movies. In Relational Databases we typically associate Many-to-many with a join table where we have primary keys of each of those table in the Join table. Therefore in our scenario we want to have GenreId and MovieId in our join table.

Entity Framework Core can represent Many-to-many relationship only by combining two one-to-many relationships and using a junction class to join them together. First Lets create the Junction class MovieGenre

public class MovieGenre
{
    public int MovieId { get; set; } public int GenreId { get; set; } public virtual Movie Movie { get; set; } public virtual Genre Genre { get; set; }

Now we are going to map two separate One-to-many relationships in our Movie and Genre entities

Add below property inside both of our Movie and Genre Entities

public ICollection<MovieGenre> MovieGenres { get; set; }

Now we are going to add the necessary Fluent API configurations

In our OnModelCreating method we are going to add configuration for MovieGenre

```
modelBuilder.Entity<MovieGenre>(ConfigureMovieGenre);
```

Here is the method for the Configuration of MovieGenre Table using Fluent API

private void ConfigureMovieGenre(EntityTypeBuilder<MovieGenre> builder)
{
```

```
builder.ToTable("MovieGenre");
builder.HasKey(mg => new { mg.MovieId, mg.GenreId }); builder.HasOne(mg => mg.Movie).WithMany(g => g.MovieGenres).HasForeignKey(mg => mg.MovieId); builder.HasOne(mg => mg.Genre).WithMany(g =>
g.MovieGenres).HasForeignKey(mg => mg.GenreId);
```

Lets add our migration and update the database.

Add-Migration MovieGenreTable
Update-Database

You should see the MovieGenre table in the database.

Here is the SQL data for the MovieGenre Table

MovieCast and MovieCrew junction tables

Now, similarly we are going to have two junction tables/entities for our Cast and Crew where one many has many casts and one cast can belong to many movies.

public class MovieCast
{
    public int MovieId { get; set; } public int CastId { get; set; } public string Character { get; set; } public Movie Movie { get; set; } public Cast Cast { get; set; }
}

public class MovieCrew
{
    public int MovieId { get; set; } public int CrewId { get; set; } public string Department { get; set; } public string Job { get; set; }

    public Movie Movie { get; set; } public Crew Crew { get; set; }
}

```

// Add below properties in Movie Entity that specifies first one-to-many relationship of Movie and Cast and Crew tables public ICollection<MovieCast> MovieCasts { get; set; }
public ICollection<MovieCrew> MovieCrews { get; set; }

// Add below in Cast and Crew entites respectively that specify second one-to-many relationship between Movie and Cast and Crew tables

// In cast Entity
public ICollection<MovieCast> MovieCasts { get; set; }

// In Crew entity
public ICollection<MovieCrew> MovieCrews { get; set; }
```

Now lets add configurations for above Entities

// inside OnModelCreating method of MovieShopDbContext Class
modelBuilder.Entity<MovieCast>(ConfigureMovieCast); modelBuilder.Entity<MovieCrew>(ConfigureMovieCrew);

private void ConfigureMovieCast(EntityTypeBuilder<MovieCast> builder)
{
    builder.ToTable("MovieCast");
    builder.HasKey(mc => new { mc.CastId, mc.MovieId, mc.Character });
    builder.HasOne(mc => mc.Movie).WithMany(mc => mc.MovieCasts).HasForeignKey(mc => mc.MovieId); builder.HasOne(mc => mc.Cast).WithMany(mc => mc.MovieCasts).HasForeignKey(mc => mc.CastId);
}

private void ConfigureMovieCrew(EntityTypeBuilder<MovieCrew> builder)
{
    builder.ToTable("MovieCrew");
    builder.Property(c => c.Job).HasMaxLength(128);
    builder.Property(c => c.Department).HasMaxLength(128); builder.HasKey(mc => new { mc.MovieId, mc.CrewId, mc.Department, mc.Job });
    builder.HasOne(mc => mc.Movie).WithMany(mc => mc.MovieCrews).HasForeignKey(mc => mc.MovieId); builder.HasOne(mc => mc.Crew).WithMany(mc => mc.MovieCrews).HasForeignKey(mc => mc.CrewId);
```

Now, lets add migration and update database

```
add-migration MovieCastandCrewTables
update-database
```

Here is the SQL data for MovieCast and MovieCrew tables

Creating UserRole Junction table/Entity

This should be straightforward and one User has many Roles and one Role can have many users

Lets add the relevant classes

// below is the junction entity
public class UserRole
{
    public int UserId { get; set; }
}

```

        public int RoleId { get; set; } public Role Role { get; set; } public User User { get; set; }

    // add the following property inside User and Role entities that form two one-to-many relationships for the many-to-many relationships public ICollection<UserRole> UserRoles { get; set; }

Now lets add the Configuration for the UserRole junction tables

// add below inside the OnModelCreating method

modelBuilder.Entity<UserRole>(ConfigureUserRoles);

// add below configuration for the UserRole junction table
private void ConfigureUserRoles(EntityTypeBuilder<UserRole> builder)
{
    builder.ToTable("UserRole");
    builder.HasKey(ur => new { ur.UserId, ur.RoleId }); builder.HasOne(ur => ur.Role).WithMany(ur => ur.UserRoles).HasForeignKey(ur => ur.RoleId); builder.HasOne(ur => ur.User).WithMany(ur => ur.UserRoles).HasForeignKey(ur => ur.UserId);
}

Finally, add migration and update database

Add-migration UserRoleTable
Update-Database

So, Finally we finished all our Many-to-many realtionships in our Database, in the next part we are going to look at One-to-many relationship
